The Arts Center Task Force (ACTF) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit dedicated to creating a home for the performing arts—an environment for artistic expression and innovation. While building the future Mid-Columbia Performing Arts Center (MCPAC) remains our long-term vision, we are expanding cultural access now through dynamic programming, partnerships, and community events.

Our work enriches the quality of life for all ages and strengthens the region's economy by supporting and showcasing local arts organizations. We are proud to collaborate with Mid-Columbia Mastersingers, Mid-Columbia Symphony, Mid-Columbia Musical Theatre, Mid-Columbia Ballet, and Mid-Columbia Opera, alongside bringing national and regional artists to our community.

The future performing arts center will serve as a state-of-the-art venue for concerts, theatre, dance, film, festivals, and events—creating a cultural hub that connects people, inspires creativity, and fuels economic vitality across the Tri-Cities.

By partnering with ACTF, sponsors help expand access to the arts today while investing in a lasting legacy for generations to come.
